Dear Licensee,

While processing your recent special licence application for a sporting quiz night (SP1312) I noted several concerns that I would like to bring to your attention.

The first concern is that of submitting special licence applications according to the required statutory timelines. Section 137 of the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012 requires special licence applications to be lodged at least 20 working days before the event occurs. This means that there must be 20 working days in between the day on which the application is accepted by Council and that on which the event occurs.

The Featherston Golf Club has recently submitted several special licence applications that have not met this requirement. Licences SP1302 and SP1280 did not meet this requirement. Please ensure that all future applications are lodged so that there are 20 complete working days from the date of lodgement until the day of the event. Future applications that don't meet this requirement will be rejected.

The Inspector has also noticed the price of alcohol provided in your most recent application. This beverage list has light beer priced more expensively than full-alcohol beers such as Tui, DB and Lion. The Inspector considers that this fails reasonable host responsibility requirements. Non-alcoholic beverages should be priced as the cheapest beverages available. Low-alcohol options should be priced more expensively and full-alcohol options should be the dearest beverages you offer. After this framework has been followed, you are free to decide the appropriate cost of beverages. That is, host responsibility practices should always come before business/financial choices. The Inspector recommends that your pricing should be reviewed in regards to this information.

Sincerely,
